Agreement on responsibility and risk

You, the Artist, agree to these conditions for this project. We are Local Art/SmallArt, an informal community group, whose organizers are Cheryl M. Stephens and other volunteers.

The organizers will accept artwork for display but do not promise any places or dates for events. The organizers do not promise to include your artwork will be in any display.

The organizers for a specific event will decide which artworks are right for the venue and for the community members expected to attend. We will respect local community standards for public exhibition of art.

You are responsible to:

- Have your artwork ready for hanging,
- Put your contact information on the back,
- Use any necessary protective packaging, and
- Pick up your artwork when we say.

Some exhibits will be outdoors, so you must understand and accept that poor weather conditions are a risk.

We will not offer your artwork for sale. We will not organize any sale or trade of artworks. We are not responsible for

- any loss of income, profits, or contracts, or
- any loss or damage arising from the display of your artwork.

We will be careful with your artwork, but we are not responsible for the loss, theft, damage, or safety of your artwork.

We welcome you to attend any display of your artwork, but we will take any legal steps to remove or exclude any person, even you, from a venue or event, if we consider that is in the interests of the event, public safety, the venue, other exhibitors, or visitors at the event.

Nothing anyone says (no oral or written statement made) outside this release, whether before or after signature, can cancel these terms. You and your guests will obey any event, venue, or facility rules and regulations, and all laws that apply to the event or location. You will obey any proper instructions of the event or venue management and staff or law enforcement officials
